BRADLEY'S RETIRED NUMBERS

The highest honor bestowed upon former Bradley student-athletes is to have their uniform number retired and publicly displayed. Before a student-athlete's number may be retired, the following minimum qualifications must be met:

- Individuals must have earned their undergraduate degree or have made significant progress toward such (i.e., if they depart prematurely for a professional career or for extenuating circumstances).
- Honorees who meet the first criteria and either have been chosen as a member of an All-

America team by a body recognized by national media (honorable mention would not qualify) or have earned an Olympic medal as a participant would be given an automatic endorsement.

- In lieu of achieving the accolades in the second criteria, selection as league Player of the Year in Bradley's primary conference, an outstanding professional career or demonstration that an athlete was by far the best to play his or her sport at Bradley would be grounds for an endorsement.
- All potential honorees must embody in their personal, academic and athletic activities the highest ideal and standards of behavior expected of a member of the Bradley community.

In addition to the seven basketball honorees, former baseball players Kirby Puckett (14) and Mike Dunne (11), as well as former baseball head coach Leo Schroll (2), are the only other Bradley Athletics members to have their uniform numbers retired.

BRADLEY TEAM OF THE CENTURY

CENTURY OF CELEBRATION

Bradley University completed a three-year celebration of the first 100 years of Braves Basketball prior to the start of the 2003-04 season. Since the program's first game on Jan. 1, 1903, the first century of Bradley Basketball was filled with great coaches, great players and great games.

During the 2001-02 season, Bradley Basketball's tradition of excellence was put to a vote as fans were given the opportunity to select the greatest players from each of seven "decades" – 1902-40, 1940s, 1950s, 1960s, 1970s, 1980s and 1990s – through balloting at selected games and on the athletic department's official website. The top seven vote-getters from each era were selected to their respective Bradley Basketball "Team of the Decade" and an ad hoc committee added an eighth player to each decade, as well as four at-large players for a total of 60 honorees.

Throughout the 2002-03 campaign, those 60 players were honored at selected games and fans once again were given the opportunity to help select the 15 greatest players in the program's history. Those 15 players are featured here and were honored during a "Gameday Luncheon" that drew more than 1,800 fans to the Peoria Civic Center Exhibition Hall Nov. 21, 2003.

In addition to the Bradley Basketball "Team of the Century," Braves fans also selected a "Game of the Century" by voting games through a 16-entry, tournament format. Bradley's 1960 win over #1 Cincinnati at Robertson Fieldhouse was the winner.

- During his nine years at the helm, Orsborn directed the Braves to a 194-56 (.776) overall record, seven NIT appearances and the first three of Bradley's four NIT championships.
- Orsborn still ranks among the all-time national leaders by achieving his first 100 victories in only 120 games and his career record after four, five, six and eight seasons also rank among the top 10 coaches in NCAA Division I history.
- Inducted into the NIT Hall of Fame during the 2002 event's Final Four and the Coaches Wing of the MVC Hall of Fame in 2005.

GAME OF THE CENTURY

#4 Bradley 91, #1 Cincinnati 90 • Jan. 16, 1960 • Robertson Memorial Fieldhouse

Advancing through a 16-entry bracket, Bradley's epic battle versus top-ranked Cincinnati Jan. 16, 1960 at Robertson Memorial Fieldhouse was voted the Greatest Game in Bradley Basketball history by a vote of fans throughout the 2002-03 season.

The 91-90 victory remains Bradley's only win against the nation's top-ranked team and made legendary Cincinnati player Oscar Robertson 0-for-3 in his games on the raised floor at Robertson Fieldhouse. Of course, the loss should not be blamed on Robertson: the king of the "triple-double" poured in an arena record 46 points and added 10 rebounds for the Bearcats.

Robertson's effort was offset by a trio of Braves, led by All-American forward Chet Walker, who put up a double-double of his own with 28 points and 12 rebounds. Al Saunders added 22 points and nine boards, while Bobby Joe Mason chipped in with 21 points.

The win, which was witnessed by more than 8,000 fans in the 7,800-seat arena, pushed the Braves up to No. 2 in the Associated Press national poll. While a 63-58 loss Feb. 22, 1960 at Houston ultimately cost the Braves a shot at the NCAA Tournament, Bradley cruised through the field at the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden to claim the second of its four titles.

TEAM NOTES

- The 1947-48 season began under tragic circumstances as sophomore guard William Dobler was killed in an automobile accident shortly before the start of the season. Bradley University and the Bradley Lettermen club (now the Bradley Varsity Club) began a 25-year sponsorship of the William Dobler Memorial Trophy honoring the team's top annual free throw shooter.
- Despite a 28-3 final record and a No. 26 Dunkel ranking, Bradley did not receive a postseason invitation.
- The Braves set the single-game scoring record in a 96-56 win against Loyola (La.) Feb. 7, 1948 at the Peoria Armory.
- Highlighted by the school single-game record 32 points Jan. 17, 1948 against Dayton, sophomore center Paul Unruh set the single-season school scoring record for the second straight year, finishing the season with 455 points.
- Legendary coach and athletic director A.J. Robertson retired after the season, then passed away Oct. 30, 1948.

TEAM NOTES

- Bradley won the Sugar Bowl Tournament to earn the program's first major college basketball tournament championship and the wins against Syracuse and Saint Louis, followed by a home win against Harvard, vaulted the Braves into the No. 1 national ranking by the Associated Press for the next two weeks.
- Bradley University hosted the inaugural National Campus Tournament
- The 51-50 win Feb. 26 at Oklahoma State made Bradley one of the first teams to ever beat OSU in Stillwater in consecutive seasons.
- "Chick" Hearn began calling games as the Bradley Basketball play-by-play announcer for WEEK Radio during the 1950-51 season.

1951 NATIONAL CAMPUS TOURNAMENT

In response to a growing national sentiment among educators and writers to bring college basketball back to college campuses, Bradley hosted the 1951 National Campus Tournament. Bradley invited 25 schools to participate in its spring "Cavalcade of Champions," which also included competition among the schools in debate and intramural basketball, and seven schools were selected to join the Braves in the postseason basketball tournament. Though the tournament was deemed a step in the right direction, it did not survive beyond the first year.

TEAM NOTES

- Bradley continued to compete as an independent for a third year, but did play eight regular-season games against Drake and active Missouri Valley Conference members. The Braves were 4-4 in those eight games, then added a NCAA Tournament win against MVC regular-season champion Oklahoma State.
- As an independent, Bradley received an at-large invitation to the NCAA Tournament, winning a District V Playoff game at home against Oklahoma City to launch its run to the national championship game.
- The 1954 NCAA Tournament national championship game against La Salle was the first to be televised nationally.
- In Bradley's Western Regional win against Colorado, Bob Carney made 23-of-26 free throw attempts en route to 37 points. Carney's 23 free throws made set the NCAA Tournament single-game record, a total that still remains the tournament's single-game record (matched by Texas guard Travis Mays in 1990). Carney's 26 free throw attempts also set the NCAA Tournament single-game record and it remained the standard until Navy center David Robinson went 21-for-27 at the stripe against Syracuse in 1986.
- Carney completed the five games in the 1954 NCAA Tournament 55-for-70 at the free throw line and his 55 free throws made in one tournament remains the NCAA Tournament record, while his 70 attempts set the record and now remain one off Jerry West's 1959 total of 71 attempts (also in five games).

TEAM NOTES

- Bradley played in the NIT for the first time since its 1950 runner-up showing and this time, the Braves completed the job by earning its first of four NIT championships with an 84-83 victory against #12 Memphis in the final.
- The Braves opened the tournament with a 116-81 rout of Xavier, setting tournament records for points in a game, points in a half (72, 1st half) and free throws made (42). The 72 points in one half still stands alone as the tournament record, while the 42 made free throws made also remains the record, though the total has been matched twice, by Tennessee versus Louisville in 1985 and Villanova against Drexel in 2004.
- Junior post Barney Cable set school records by totalling 506 points and averaging 18.1 points per game during the 1956-57 season.
- Shellie McMillon's 3-point play inside the game's final 30 seconds proved to be the difference in Bradley's 84-83 win against Memphis in the NIT final.

NOTES

- Bradley and Cincinnati shared the regular-season league title with 10-2 conference marks, then determined who would represent the league in the NCAA Tournament by meeting in a one-game playoff March 12 in Evansville. Ranked No. 2 in the country, Cincinnati won that playoff, 61-46, and went on to win the national title.
- After dropping a 73-72 decision at home to Duquesne in the regular-season finale, Bradley drew the Dukes again in the quarterfinals of the NIT at Madison Square Garden, suffering an 88-83 defeat.
- A repeat selection for consensus All-American, senior post player Chet Walker led The Valley in both scoring (26.4 ppg) and rebounding (12.3 rpg).

NOTES

- Bradley University played host to the 1971 Missouri Valley Conference Playoff, hosting regular-season tri-champions Drake, Louisville and Saint Louis at Robertson Fieldhouse to determine The Valley's representative in the 1971 NCAA Tournament.
- Louisville pulled out a 68-66 win against Saint Louis March 11 in the first playoff game, but after using only six players to beat the Billikens, a rested Drake squad took down the Cardinals, 86-71, in the playoff final March 13 in front of 6,100 mostly neutral fans at Robertson Fieldhouse.

NOTES

- The Braves participated in a mid-season international tournament, visiting Madrid, Spain during Christmas for the event that included national teams from Australia, Spain and Uruguay.
- The second-longest tenured coach in Bradley Basketball history, Joe Stowell was dismissed as head coach following the 1977-78 season, but remained on staff as an assistant athletic director through 1985. ### NOTES

- First-year Director of Athletics hired Dick Versace as the ninth coach in Bradley Basketball history and the former Jackson (Mich.) Community College head coach completed his first Braves roster with six new players and two new assistant coaches.
- Although the Braves struggled through a 9-17 season, Versace's squad drew national attention by employing the "Bird Cage" defense when No. 2 Indiana State visited Robertson Fieldhouse Feb. 10. The Braves double-teamed national player of the year Larry Bird throughout the game, limiting Bird to four points on 2-for-2 field goal shooting. Taking advantage of the defense, Sycamores guard Carl Nicks pumped in 31 points on 13-for-21 shooting, leading Indiana State to a 91-72 win. Bird's final line: 4 points, 11 rebounds, 0 assists, three steals.
- Bradley drew a crowd of just 3,200 for the Jan. 15 game versus Creighton. Weather records indicate Peoria suffered a low temperature of -22 degrees F Jan. 15 with 19.8 inches of snow on the ground.

NOTES

- Bradley was the preseason pick to win the Missouri Valley Conference.
- The Braves hosted Illinois Nov. 22 in the final game of a 3-year agreement with the Illini. Illinois' visit to Carver Arena was the team's first appearance in Peoria since 1936. The standing-room-only crowd of 11,430 set Bradley's home game attendance record.
- The combination of Bradley's status as the preseason Valley favorite and Illinois' presence on the home schedule led to what remains the single-season average attendance record of 10,178 fans per game.

NOTES

- The Braves began the season with freshman center Patrick O'Bryant suspended the first eight games and junior guard Will Franklin the first six games by the NCAA due to impermissible benefits related to summer employment.
- Following the Jan. 11 home loss to Wichita State, head coach Jim Les announced all five starting positions were up for grabs and the reshuffled lineup included the insertion of junior guard J.J. Tauai into a 3-guard alignment. The Braves responded with a 90-62 win against Evansville in its next game to start a season-ending 14-5 surge that carried Bradley to the MVC Tournament championship game and the third round of the NCAA Tournament, its deepest NCAA Tournament run since 1955.
- O'Bryant declared himself eligible for the NBA Draft and was selected ninth overall by the Golden State Warriors.
- Nine members of the 2005-06 team ultimately would go on to play professional basketball.

- In his final career home game, senior guard J.J. Tauai collected 17 points and 17 rebounds in Bradley's NIT first round overtime win against Providence.

- The 96-85 win in the CBI semifinal March 26 at Virginia was Bradley's first-ever road win against an ACC opponent.

NOTES

- Bradley was invited to the inaugural CollegeInsider.com Postseason Tournament (CIT) in 2009. The 2009 CIT was the sixth inaugural edition of a postseason college basketball tournament in which Bradley was invited to participate and the fifth in which the Braves did actually participate: 1938 NIT, 1939 NCAA (declined invitation), 1951 National Campus Tournament, 1974 Commissioner's Classic, 2008 College Basketball Invitational.
- Bradley won its CIT quarterfinal game against Oakland March 23 when Chris Roberts tossed in a 75-footer at the buzzer for what is believed to remain the longest, game-winning buzzer-beater in postseason college basketball history.

NOTES

- Junior forward Taylor Brown was suspected of having a heart condition following a preseason physical and was not permitted to play during the 2010-11 campaign. He ultimately was cleared to participate following the season, but lost the year of eligibility due to a previous voluntary redshirt as a true freshman at Bevill State College.
- With continued pain in his ankles, Sam Maniscalco applied for a medical hardship after appearing in just six games. Benefitting from NCAA transfer rules for graduates, Maniscalco transferred to Illinois for his fifth season in 2011-12.
- Following his ninth season as head coach and a fourth consecutive season in a downward trend, Jim Les was fired as head coach and replaced by Geno Ford.
